

Chelsey Machin

Full-Stack Developer

Multi-talented full-stack developer with a background in social work and more recently IT. Self-starting career switcher that will have two full degrees under my belt by 28. Incredibly motivated to learn and grow through any means available. Customer service competent with lots of modern technical skills and experience. In my personal projects, I am enjoying playing around with React, different modern CMS, and a good variety of different libraries, frameworks, and publicly available APIs out there. Please peek at my GitHub or portfolio for current personal projects and schoolwork.
